

The left grid displays a collection of blue geometric shapes (triangles, circles, squares) arranged in a specific pattern. The right grid shows the same pattern represented by orange circles containing numbers, where the number indicates the count of shapes of that type at each position.